

Dafna Naphtali is a singer/instrumentalist/electronic-musician who composes/performs experimental, interactive electro-acoustic music. For 20+ years, drawing on a wide-ranging musical background in jazz, classical, rock and near-eastern music and using her custom Max/MSP programming, she's performed in the US, Canada, Europe, India, Russia and the Middle East, with current projects also including: "Audio Chandelier", multi-channel audio piece presented in US, Berlin, and Montreal (IX Symposium 2017 @Satosphère); "Robotica" (music robots and voice) at Avant Music Fest '16 and continuing ; "Walkie Talkie Dream Angles", an "Audio Augmented-reality" sound walk and personalized interactive composition written for NY's Washington Square Park, with new location-pieces in progress.

Dafna's longest-running project is for live sound-processing on voice and acoustic instruments as a performable "instrument". The current focus is on duos with acoustic instrumentalists –pianist Gordon Beeferman (new CD "Pulsing Dot"), trombonist Jen Baker (Clip Mouth Unit), percussionist Luis Tabuenca (CD "Index of Refraction"), Chuck Bettis (electronics/throat – CD "Chatter Blip") and with Hans Tammen (endangered guitar). Performing as a singer (unplugged!), Naphtali has interpreted the music of Cage, Stockhausen (Stimmung w/choreographer Daria Fain / Magic Names vocal sextet), Eisler/Brecht (Hollywood Liederbuch), and contemporary composers Joshua Fried, Shelley Hirsch, Kitty Brazelton, José Halac, Yotam Haber, Jonathan Bepler, she's performed Spanish Civil War songs with the genre-transcending band Barbez, and organized "Voice Activated" public interventions for Make Music NY.

Fellowships/awards include: NY Foundation for the Arts ('13, '01), NY State Council on the Arts, Franklin Furnace, American Composers Forum ('99, '09), Foundation for Contemporary Arts, American Music Center; residencies: Music/OMI, STEIM, and Signal Culture. Discography includes "What is it Like to be a Bat?" digital punk trio with Kitty Brazelton (Tzadik), CDs with Chuck Bettis, Hans Tammen, and many as side-person / singer. The forthcoming album "Machines & Memory", features "Panda Half-Life" (vocal sextet / interactive electronics), "Men March" (voice/chamber group/live electronics), and "Robotica". More info: www.dafna.info

"...luminary" (Time Out New York)

"extraordinary experimental vocalist" (Bruce Gallanter, Downtown Music Gallery)